

48. PASSION: TO IUVENTIUS

uventius [p. 215], if I were always allowed to kiss your honey-sweet eyes,

I might kiss you three hundred thousand times, and never be sated, not even if my kisses were more than the crop's ripe ears of wheat.